

Contents

VOLUME I No 1
2003/1

ARTICLES

- ▶ The problems in the interpretation of the taotie motif on Shang bronzes | ELENA MORENO 9
- ▶ The blueprint for the Zhongshan King's graveyard | WANG TAO 16
- ▶ Pictorial representations of the Buddha's nirvāna in Chinese relic deposits | HSUEH-MAN SHEN 25
- ▶ An archaeological study of the Yuan theatre stage | IRENE TSANG 49
- ▶ Japanese domestic lacquerware of the 19th century | SUSAN HOUSE WADE 59

REVIEWS

- ▶ The history and historicity of a Chinese handscroll painting | SHANE McCAUSLAND 71
- ▶ Chinese archaeology and the opening up of China | ROBERT E MUROWCHICK 85
- ▶ Kew's lacquer legacy | SUSAN HOUSE WADE 95

REPORTS

- ▶ Sir Aurel Stein, London and Budapest, Spring 2002 | HELEN WANG 97
- ▶ Contributors 100
- ▶ Index 102

On the cover

Detail from the mural at the Ming Ying Wang Temple, Hongdong, China's Shanxi province, dated 1324 showing a troupe performing on stage, Yuan dynasty. After Liao Ben, Zhongguo gudai juchang shi. Zhengzhou: Zhongzhou guji chubanshe, 1994. See Irene Tsang, An archaeological study of the Yuan theatre stage, in this issue of East Asia Journal